ATLANTA, GA--(BUSINESS WIRE) July 21, 2008 --The Bankers Exchange, exclusive North American distributor of the CheckNique™ check & card imager, announces a partnership with WitsEnds Software of Colorado. WitsEnds Software has integrated the CheckNique™ imager with their ChekDirect application, offering the ability to use a comprehensive and feature-rich Remote Capture software product with CheckNique's unique features.

The CheckNique delivers superior image quality and reliability usually found in higher priced scanners. Single pass color scanning with dual CIS cameras captures a clear clean image with every scan. The auto-adjusting feed system allows multiple types of documents to be scanned through the same path eliminating the need for additional imaging equipment.

"We are pleased about our partnership with WitsEnds and about their broad capabilities to extend their image capture footprint in the merchant capture market space," said Jim Wilson, CEO of The Bankers Exchange.

"We envision an environment in the near future where check capture is so widely distributed that everyone expects it, like credit cards" says Kent Phelps, VP of Software Development at WitsEnds. "A small scanner like CheckNique, with the right combination of price point and features, will lead this revolution. Not only was integration a snap", says Kent, "but the unique features of CheckNique gave rise to new concepts, such as WitsEnds "Fantastique", a tray-icon small-footprint implementation of CheckNique that is available with the single click of a mouse in the system tray." Fantastique can also be used by developers in higher level languages such as VB and PowerBuilder, or any other development environment that can call another program, to fully automate the check scanning process. Seamless integration from initiating a check scan to including the image and MICR info into their application is easy and straightforward. "Those developers don't need to know anything about check scanning. There is no learning curve at all to have check scanning as a tool, using CheckNique and Fantastique – you could go on break and your developer could have check scanning going by the time you got back" says Kent.
